

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A slidably detachable mobile phone display unit, which includes a frame and an outer covering, is provided. The frame has a chamber into which a display panel is fixed whereas the outer covering is jointed to the frame in a slidably detachable way.

5 Among which, the outer covering, which is slidably detachable from the frame, can be replaced easily; the hard and strong structure of the frame supports and protects the display panel from being damaged by hits of external sources. In addition, the frame, being small-sized, light and thin, makes it easier for the users to carry the mobile phones with them. The seamless outer covering features the integral beauty of the mobile 10 phone.
